To Our "Charity" Members.

There are upon our subscription books a number of subscribers who have taken the KENTUCKIAN continuously since its first issue Jan. 1, 1897. They were "charity members" and have stuck to us through thick and thin, year in and year out for thirteen years. They have followed the paper through all its changing fortunes and stood by it with a loyalty that has never wavered. Now that the KENTUCKIAN is firmly established as the best and most prosperous newspaper in Western Kentucky, we have this gratification to make to our old "charity" members. Every subscriber who has taken the KENTUCKIAN since its first issue will, during 1892, be given five dollars in an extra copy of the paper free, to be sent to any address desired. This does not constitute a renewal of your own subscription without pay, but the proposition is that you give two papers when you pay one for 1892. The extra copy is sent to a name not on our list. All these subscribers will receive with the year 1892, whether put on Jan. 1 or July 1. This offer is made for one reason. The first is to show our appreciation of past favors, and also to introduce the KENTUCKIAN into families where it does not now go and the third is to prove that "charity" after all is not uncharitable a number of our subscribers.

MATRIMONIAL.

Mr. Ephraim Mason and Miss May

Clardy were happily married a few days ago, at the residence of the bride's mother, on the Lafayette road.

Mr. Cotton, of New Providence, officiated. The groom was given a reception by his father, Mr. J. H.

Walker, and the bride by her father,

Mr. W. H. Walker, on Greenwood avenue—Clarksville-Lynch-Croft.

Mr. Geo. W. Wilson, of Trigg county and Miss Carrie Cox, of Bellevue, were married at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Nannie Cox, at 4 o'clock, p.m., Wednesday, Rev. A. W.

Moschell officiating. Immediately after the ceremony the couple, accompanied by a few relatives and intimate friends, repaired to the residence of Mr. W. T. Washington, near the city, where an elegant reception was rendered them. The groom is a young farmer and his bride is the young daughter of the late John

Cox.

The usual congratulations were tended.
